Hi _____,
(HR MANAGER)

I'm sure that you have heard that student loans are a problem – a $1.3 Trillion problem – but did you know that student loans impact 70% of recent graduates? I, along with many of my coworkers, are a part of that seventy percent. Student loans affect my overall financial wellness as I look forward to buying a house, saving for retirement and achieving the other goals I have set for myself.

I found a new benefit that companies are offering their employees – student loan repayment. Even small contributions from an employer can cut years from an employee's loans. From my research, it seems that this is an increasingly common benefit that companies like PwC, Penguin Random House and Peloton are now offering.

As you evaluate the benefits that we receive, I implore you to consider student loan repayment. It would have a significant impact on my and many of my coworkers' financial wellness and lives.

I appreciate your time in reading this information. If you have any questions or would like more information, you can contact Gradifi at info@gradifi.com.

Thank you for your consideration,

Your grateful employee
